DETAILED ACTION

Response to Arguments

1. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-4 have been considered, but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

3. Claims 1-2 and 4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by U.S. Patent Number 6,757,729 to Devarakonda.
4. As to claim 1, Devarakonda teaches A service discovery protocol server for discovering a service provided by an apparatus using a service discovery protocol, from another apparatus using a service discovery protocol different from said service discovery protocol, said server comprising: a common database for storing service information defined by a plurality of different and distinct service discovery protocols, written in a common format (col. 3, line 54- col. 4, line 11); and a plurality of handler means for handling one of said plurality of service discovery protocols, said handler means including a conversion means for mutually converting service information between a format used in said one service discovery protocol handled in this handler means and said common format (col. 4, lines 12-42).

Art Unit: 2142

5. As to claim 2, Devarakonda teaches the server as claimed in claim 1, wherein said service information is defined for each service attribute, and wherein said conversion means converts said service information between one service attribute of said handler means and another service attribute of said common database, said one service attribute having the same semantic description as said another service attribute (col. 4, lines 12-42).

6. As to claim 4, Devarakonda teaches the server as claimed in claim 1, wherein said handler means includes a service discovery protocol control means, a communication protocol control means and a communication means (col. 4, lines 12-42).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC §103

7. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

8. Claim 3 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over U.S. Patent Number 6,757,729 to Devarakonda.

9. As to claim 3, Devarkonda teaches the server as claimed in claim 2, including a service discovery protocol handler name (col. 4, lines 43-59); however, Devarkonda does not explicitly teach a service name, a vender name, and a location.

The applicant admits in the Background of the invention that such attributes are well known service attributes provided by appliances (page 2 of specification, end of first paragraph).

Art Unit: 2142

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the Computer Networking art at the time of the invention to combine the teachings of Devarakonda regarding a means for handling services with the attributes of a service name, a vendor name, and a location because such attributes are commonly provided by appliances.

Conclusion

10. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
